The trouble was the outcome of an angry the place of the place The trouble was the outcome of an angry collegay between Quail and the mansger during which the latter called upon the special officer to make the arrest. Quail left $5 collateral for his appearance in the Police Court this morning. When the case was called the complainant made the transport of the first that he stramed to the case was called the complainant made that the case was called the complainant made. a statement to the effect that he attempted to induce Quail to go away and pushed his arm. The accused, however, insisted that he was struck by the manager, when he (Quail) invited him around the corner. He also said that he refused to leave the pavement in front of the Opera House. Justice Caton in summing up the case said it was the first time he had the case said it was the case said it w had an opportunity to enforce the city ordinance forbidding loitering in front of a public hall, and he imposed a fine of Quail said he would pay the fine under protest. Justice Oston replied Commission to conditions prevailing at that he would pay no attention to the the western entrance of the Wilkes street protest, but that the accused would not tunnel. Recently the Southern Railway be allowed to leave the court until the Company at the suggestion of Mayor Poff assessment was paid.

WEDDING.

A very pretty home wedding was solemnized at 5 o'clock yesterday even-ing at the residence of Mr. and Mrs Herbert Goodrich when Miss Emma Heisley, youngest daughter of the late Ferdinand and Phoebe Heisley, became the bride of Mr George W. Baier, of Washington. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Joseph R. Sevier, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church. The bride was attended by Miss Lens Baier, sister of the groom, and the best man was Mr, Jerome Hurst, of Washington, The bride was becomingly gowned in white silk and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. Miss Baier was gowned in pink silk and also carried roses.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Baier left for their future home in Washington. A number of out-of-town guest were present. The couple received many

MAN IN THE HOUSE.

Some excitement was created on Duke street, near Fairfax, about noon today by a young woman who ran out of her house with a baby in her arms declaring that there was a man in the house. Th woman with her child entered the resi-dence of a neighbor and in the meantime a telephone message was sent to the station house. Subsequent developments showed that a man was in the nouse— the husband of the young woman—who had secreted himself under a bed for the purpose of playing a practical joke on his wife.

> THE WILKES STREET TUNNEL Mr. George A. Nowland recently called the attention of the State Corporation removed the cap stones of the tunnel at Fairfax street and placed concrete in their stead and also over thirty feet on each side of the brick wall. The object was to abolish the seating accommodations afforded at that point which induced boys and men to congregate and at times to become disorderly. This object was accomplished, and at present the place which had been an annoyance to people living in the vicinity for half a century has been as quiet as any other portion of the city. Mr. Nowland, however, who has been equally anxious to eliminate the cause of the trouble, thinks, as do others, that a more sightly arrangement could be adopted which would answer the same purpos. Hence he has suggested to the commission that the railway company he transacted was not of public interest. the railway company be requested to to be dangerous. Mr. Nowland has the city, but no serious damage re-received a letter from Mr. Joseph E. sulted.
